The student body's participation made Spirit Week a great success this year. This was the week that preceded the Homecoming football game and dance. It started Monday October 17 and lasted until Friday October 21. Spirit Week consisted of five dress-up days and various other activities. These days were Monday-Toga Day: Tuesday-Tourist Day: Wednesday-Jerk Day: Thursday - Mafia Day: and Friday-Spirit Day. The additional activities included a movie, "Watcher in the Woods." shown on Wednesday night, a candlelight rally and a class Olympathon.

To show their spirit on Friday, the Freshman and Sophomore classes dressed in gold and the Junior and Senior classes dressed in green. The big finale to the entire Spirit Week was the Homecoming Dance which took place on Saturday night at the Flight Deck of the Hughes Executive Air Terminal.

The scene was set as Rancho prepared for the 1983 Homecoming. The Homecoming Assembly took place in the gymnasium, which was transformed into a panorama of white and lavender. As the spotlight centered on each couple, they walked down the white-picketed aisle trimmed with illuminated lights. At the center of this picturesque scene stood a gazebo, from which each couple paused to emerge from either side of the gazebo, giving the student body a chance to view each prospective king and queen. All 26 couples were nominated to represent a certain organization or club.

The Homecoming Dance was the culmination to a week of hard work and excitement. This year the dance was held at the Fight Deck Resturant which is located in the Hughes Executive Air Terminal. This picturesque setting with the huge bay windows allowed the dancers to view the truly breathtaking scene of glimmering runway lights against the black night sky. This romantic atmospere was then further enhanced by the Rainbow Multi-Media who presented the musical entertainment for the dancers. However, the highlight of the evening occured when the students heard the chosen theme song, "Only You," they realized the long anticipated wait was well worth it.

Best Team In 20 Years

The 1983 "Superams", the elected name of Rancho's varsity football team, lived up to its name by winning eight games and losing only two this season. Although a majority of the players were injured at one time or another, including starting quarterback George Williams, Rancho still held on to a seven game winning streak with the help of reserve quarterback Keith Whitley. The games for the Sunrise Division title were a prime example of the Superams' excellence as Rancho went on to capture this title, a first in the school's history.

One of the three most popular grid-iron battles for Rancho was the Homecoming game. This year the Superams' opponents were the Basic Wolves. The Superams took an early 3-0 lead, but, late in the third quarter, Basic capitalized on a safety and made the score 3-2. A punt return by B.T. Collins sparked the scoring drive and Rancho pulled out a 17-15 Homecoming win. The second most popular game was the battle for Sir Herkimer's Bone, a traditional contest between Rancho and Vegas. This game started out as one of the worst for Rancho this season. The score was 0-0 throughout the game until the middle of the third quarter when Mike Martin intercepted a pass. This started the Superams on a scoring explosion. Rancho obtained a score of 6-0 and kept the lead until the final score of 21-0, which enabled Rancho to keep the Bone for a third consecutive year. The final game took the form of a playoff against Valley. This marked another accomplishment for Rancho's varsity team, as they entered the playoffs for the first time in ten years.

The Ram junior varsity football team began the season with a 34 to 14 victory over Chaparral. After two losses to Sunset Division powers, Gorman and Valley, the team ran off three straight wins over Clark, Eldorado, and Western. Following their winning streak, the team experienced two tough losses against the powerful Bonanza and Basic teams. The team rebounded with a 18 to 0 shutout against archrival Las Vegas to finish with a 5 and 4 record.

The team was led by a talented group of Sophomores including Fred Maston, Jesse Bright, Billy Hemsley, Eric Walden, Jim Burns, Tom Martin, and David Hagedorn. Jesse Bright was selected as the team's Most Valuable Player.

Lady Rams Take

At the end of a truly outstanding season, the Girls' Varsity Volleyball team proved that they were the best in the southern zone with a record of 18-0. With a group of talented individuals, the lady Rams slowly and arduously worked their way to the top. In the process of doing so, they received many awards for their efforts. Selected to the All-Conference team were Shelley Munoz, Curtycine Jones, and Bonnie Bulloch, who was also honored as the Most Valuable Player of the All-Conference team. Also receiving honors was Coach Bonnie Flaagan, who was named as the Southern Conference Class AAA Coach of the year.

Although they were able to capture the Southern zone title, the Varsity Volleyball team missed the State title by a close measure. After beating Chaparral and Clark in the first round of the tournament, the lady Rams later fell to Northern zone champs Douglas High School in the semi-finals of the tournament. They then lost to Chaparral, bringing their quest for the State title to a tearful end.

Earlier in the season the team played in the Labor Day Tournament at Valley High School. With a combination of teams from Las Vegas and various parts of California, they finished the tournament in third place. Outstanding offensive player Curtycine Jones was selected to the All-Tournament team.

The junior varsity volleyball team this year was in coach Francis Price's words, "The best I've had in years." The team had a record of 14-2. Team captions were Merna Velazco and Candi Soldana. Together they rallied the team into producing amazing results. The only upsets they suffered were against Eldorado for a final score of 14-16 and -15, and against Gorman for a final score of 13-15 and 12-15. Coach Price felt that those games were lost simply because the other teams surprised them. The team tied with Eldorado for the Sunrise Division Champions.

A Look Forward

The women's golf team ended their season with a win-loss record of 1-9. Under the supervision of Judy Smiley and Merian Murphy, the girls did better than they expected since all of the girls were newcomers to the team. Their daily practice after school at Winterwood Golf Course, however, did not provide enough skill for the girls to compete with the experienced golfers from the other schools. Because of this major obstacle, the Rancho team only had one win against Bonanza.

Mrs. Murphy attributed their losses to the fact that at the other high schools golf is a family activity, and the majority of opponents belonged to Country Clubs which had enabled them to participate in various tournaments throughout the year. Because of this situation, the girls at Rancho were at a definite disadvantage, but with time and experience the team will be a formidable opponent in the future.

And They're Off!

The 1983 Cross-Country season was very successful for Coach Bud O'Dea and his runners. Even though the girls fielded a full team of five only once or twice, they made excellent showings of themselves as individuals. The most outstanding example of this was Elizabeth Armentrout who took first in all three home meets.

Another impressive outcome of the season involved several members of the team. These included Kurt Williams, Fred Plumley, Elizabeth Armentrout, and Christina Colean who all had qualifying times in the First Annual Sunrise Division Competition which entitled them to become members on the All Conference team.

At the Zone Finals every member on the team ran his fastest time on the 3.1 mile course. As a result both Kurt Williams and Liz Armentrout advanced to the State Finals held in Reno. All in all, Coach O'Dea was very proud of his "hard-working tigers" and was sorry to lose his four senior runners, Frank Vega, Terry Denton, Chris Colean and Liz Armentrout.

Racket Rams

The 1983-84 mens' tennis team ended with a 1-9 record, putting them in tenth place overall. Although it was a respectable finish, the boys were nevertheless disappointed.

According to Coach Russell Rameriz, the Racket Rams were in a rebuilding period. In fact Coach Rameriz didn't expect them to do extremely well this year since the team was relatively small and unexperienced. Of the twelve team members only Darrin Barbian, Ryan Bowler, Nolan McClain, Bryan Scott, and Darryl Thomas were returning lettermen. The remaining team members had little or no high school tennis experience.

Ryan Bowler was named as the outstanding player for the Rancho team this season. His skills along with the other teams members were particularly needed against Valley who was the toughest opponent for the Racket Rams. The easiest opponent was Basic.

Raging Rackets

The girls' tennis team was at a definite disadvantage this year since only three of the sixteen members were returning lettermen. Considering this fact, their final record of 5-5 was quite a feat.

The team's hardest two losses came from defeats by Valley, 3-25, and Clark, 2-26. For the past few years, the top competition in Las Vegas has been these teams. This year was no different, and the unexperienced Ram players couldn't manage to defeat these two powerful teams. The easiest opponent for the team was Basic with the final score of 18-10.

Eight team members competed in the Zone tournament. These players were Susan Campbell, Anna Shore, Rebecca Hardy, Dawn Gustafson, Bridgette Harvey, Stacy Chamberlain, Stephanie Fyfe, and Diana Myers. The only players to continue to State were Shore and Campbell. Campbell was also chosen as the outstanding player for the 1983-84 season.

Rolling Rams

Rancho's bowling teams suffered several setbacks this year due to the fact that the majority of team members were new to the sport. Because of this factor, the final record for the men's bowling team was 16-46, and the women's team finished with a 22-46 record.

Although the overall final records were not impressive, the teams had several excellent individual bowlers. The top bowlers were Stephanie Munoz averaging 160 and Lance Skrceny with a 183 average. The most inspirational bowler for the men's team was Ray Ratdakham, and for the women's team it was Barbara Hix.

All of the team members did their best to lead the team through the challenging year. Mrs. Pete Barnson was also an important factor in the team's success since she helped the team members improve their bowling skills during their first year of high school competition.

The Rancho varsity basketball team encountered a transitional period this year because the team members were, for the most part, young and inexperienced in varsity competition. In fact, the majority of the team was comprised of sophomores and juniors. This situation combined with other minor setbacks hindered the team from achieving its fullest potential. A similar sentiment was expressed by assistant coach Steve Boyack who stated: "The season was marred by minor setbacks." He went on to say that the team showed great unification in their game against the Basic Wolves who were their easiest opponents. As for the Rams' hardest opposition, it was definitely against the Chaparral Cowboys who proved to be the Rams' mightiest and most cunning nemesis.

Although the final scoreboard did not indicate a winning season for the Rams, there were several highlights to the season. The team, led by co-captains junior Brian Day and senior Andre Denson, took fourth position in the Sunrise Division. Special recognition was also given to seniors Brad Butler and Andre Denson. These two players, due to their many stunning plays, were named as the team's most outstanding players. They also went on to represent Rancho in the second all-division team.

In summarizing the season, it was apparent that the team has a promising future since the varsity Rams have already secured a strong returning team, with three sophomores and five juniors who are working on team unification for the 84-85 season. This same idea was expressed by senior player David Owens who stated, "The varsity team improved greatly over the season and will be a team to be reckoned with next year."

The Women's Varsity Basketball team completed the season with an impressive 13-3 record. Rancho's two major setbacks were against Clark in the season opener, and against Valley in an overtime heartbreaker. Fortunately for Rancho, they also had some very close, exciting games, particularly in the Western game, Rancho overcame a 12 point deficit to come away with a thrilling victory. The Eldorado and Las Vegas games were neck and neck with Rancho prevailing each time.

Fran Price, coach of the Lady Rams for her 13th season, felt that good rebounding and a lot of speed played a good part in the success of the team. Her goal was to teach young people how to play the game and to teach the importance of character, sportsmanship, and teamwork. Everyone showed strong teamwork, but there were a few outstanding players. C.J. Jones, and All-Conference player, averaged 25 points, 15 rebounds, and 8-10 assists per game. Other leaders were La Shawn Neal with an average of 12 points per game, and Jackie Joiner who averaged 8 points per game. The leading rebounders averaging 10 rebounds per game were La Joie Whitsett and Cindy Johnson.

Through the talent of these young ladies, the team was able to enter the Zone semi-finals where they won a decisive victory over Clark, 61-49. The Lady Rams then advanced one step closer to their goal by defeating Chaparral 38-32 which won the team the title of Zone Champs.

Having gained the honor of being named as the best team in the southern division, the girls opposed the defending state champs from Carson City. The outcome to this game, however, was heartbreaking, for the Lady Rams lost to the Carson team with the final score of 58-47.

The junior varsity basketball team this year proved to be a miniature version of the "Runnin Rebels" of UNLV since both teams demonstrated skill, technique, strength, and unification on the basketball court. This was verified by the fact that the team finished the season with an impressive final scoreboard of 16-2. Their only two upsets were against Las Vegas High and Clark High school.

Five freshmen and eight sophomores joined to give their all in the pursuit of supremacy on the courts. As for star players, Coach Micheal Dye stressed that since all thirteen members had unlimited ability, it was difficult to identify any one team member as the most outstanding player. He felt that the team's strong points were intelligence, speed, and desire because they were able to repeatedly execute important plays, and their fast breaks sparkled with knowledge of the game.

As the season came to an end, it became apparent that the team shows outstanding potential for the years to come. With continued practice and determination, the team has the ability to win the title of State Champs.

"A Tight-Knit Group"

The 1983-84 J.V. girls basketball team finished the season off with eight wins and eight loses. From the beginning, they were at a disadvantage with only eight players on the team. Immediately into the season, two girls had to leave the team. Coach Dee Nuanes stated, that though the team was smaller than that of the other schools, "they were a tight-knit group, who always pulled together and worked hard." Three of the girls were starters last year for Coach Nuanes, who is a P.E. teacher at K.O. Knudson.

One possible cause for the small number of players was the new requirement that all athletic participants must have at least a 2.0 grade point average. This had nothing to do with the already established team rule of "one 'U' on a report card and the team member would not play in the next game."

Coach Nuanes was proud of her whole team saying that "everyone contributed," but she was especially proud of players #10 Raquel Barker and #20 Tina Joseph who following their season's end were moved up to play in the Varsity Zone and State games.

1. Kathy Thomas gracefully reaches up to tip the ball in Rancho's direction. 2. Rochelle Hemphill battles a one on one fight with her opponent. 3. Tina Joseph is shown in perfect form as she puts up two points. 4. Raquel Barker valiantly tries to leap to greater heights for the glory of Rancho. 5. The members of the girls J.V. basketball team are Rochelle Hemphill, Lisa McCall, Coach Dee Nuanes, Tina Joseph, Latonya Joiner, Kathy Thomas, and Raquel Barker.

Varsity Wrestlers Make Their Move

Strength, skill and hard work described the 1983-84 Varsity Wrestling team. Led by head coach Carl Barbeau and assistants Dave Pearce and Richard Diller, the wrestlers consistently achieved good individual performances. In terms of the overall season's record, however, the team was at a disadvantage since they were forced to forfeit several matches because the team lacked wrestlers for each of the weight divisions.

The team participated in five tournaments. Three of the five tournaments proved to be very successful for the Rams. At the Eldorado Gold Tourney, 16 teams entered and Rancho took sixth place. They then went on to take third place in both the Kingman Tournament and the Rancho Classic.

Summarizing the season, Coach Barbeau felt that the season was very successful in terms of individual scores. Several team members were named as outstanding wrestlers. Elvin Jones at 188 had a season record of 25-5. Later in the season, he won a first place trophy in Zone. At State he defended his title by winning his second consecutive State Championship. Weighing in at 178, Mike Whitfield compiled a record of 31-4. He placed second in Zone and third in State. Also at State, sophomore Greg Webb placed second in the 101 weight class, and weighing in at 108 Bart Blood took fourth. The final notable wrestler was Clyde Mosby who ended the season with a 27-8-2 record. He then went to Zone where he took third place.

The junior varsity wrestling team suffered a setback this year due to the lack of participants entered into each weight division. According to the state wrestling rules, there must be a wrestler for each weight class. If no contender is placed in the specific weight category, it results in an automatic forfeiture in that weight division. Because of this situation, the final outcome for the season was unfavorable, a 0-9 record.

Although the overall record was disappointing, several of the wrestlers had impressive individual scores. Cory Cutler, weighing in at 101, ended with a 8-5 record. He also finished fourth in the Moapa Tournament. Bryant Walker placed second in the 108 weight division of the Moapa Tournament. Al Pasco who wrestled in the 115 pound weight class placed second in the Basic Invitational. In this same tournament, Pat Smith took third place in his weight division of 122.

The varsity soccer team which consisted of nineteen members managed to pull through the 1984 season with the help of their second year coach Fred Johnson. They ended their season with a dignified score of eleven wins, eight losses, and three ties. The team's lack of experience was partially responsible for their few upsets in the beginning of the season, particularly in the games against Boulder City, Las Vegas, and Western. However, as the season continued, the team overcame this hinderance of inexperience, and they began to show tremendous strength and stamina which became self-evident when the team only lost two of their last eleven games.

The team's strength was also shown during the zone tournament when the Rams, according to Coach Johnson, "beat Valley in two over times and two sudden deaths." However, in the second game of the zone tournament, Rancho lost to Gorman with a heartbreaking score of Rancho two and Gorman three.

A few of the players who made this prominent season possible were Rudy Sanchez, Paris Reeves, Willie Richards, and Glen Cromwell.

The Sport With No Hands

The Rancho junior varsity soccer team ended their season with a final record of 4 wins and 11 loses. The team's toughest opponent was Chaparral because several Rancho Rams were injured during the game. Their easiest game was against the Basic Wolves who were not prepared for the Rams' show of strength during this game.

The team averaged approximately three points per game. This average per game was possible due to the efforts of several outstanding team members. Some of these players included team forwards SouCheep Prasop, Terry Ferraro and Brian Gillens. The team's outstanding offensive player was Brian Gillens, and Steve Perkins was named as the best defensive player. The most valuable players on the team were Brian Gillens, Brian La Voie, Kyo Chor, and Kelly Booth. The team, however, suffered a major setback during midseason when Booth was moved up to the Varsity team due to his superior playing ability.

A Holiday Interlude

While most of Rancho's students were away on Christmas vacation, our basketball team, along with fifteen other teams from across the country, were playing basketball in the Holiday Prep Classic. This year the seventh annual Classic which was sponsored by Rancho was held from December 27-30. The preliminary games were played at U.N.L.V. while the final playoffs took place in the Thomas and Mack Center.

The four states represented at this tournament were Nevada, California, Kentucky, and Pennsylvania. The teams in Nevada were from Bonanza, Gorman, Chaparral, Valley, and Rancho.

At this nationally recognized tournament for High school basketball, the team members from the four states showed their talents to the visiting college scouts who attended these games for the purpose of recruiting perspective players for their own teams. The team members, however, not only played well for the scouts, but they also performed their best for their loyal spectators which ultimately proved that this year's Holiday Prep Classic kept its long standing reputation for great basketball.

The Building Rams Prepare For Annual Wood Show

The building Rams presented their annual wood show in May this year. The show which was held in the gym enabled the wood students to display their final projects to the students and faculty at Rancho.

The students who participated in this show were the students from the three levels of wood classes. Placement in Woods I, II, or III depended upon ones previous skills. The programs were designed to teach the students how to design and build cabinets and furniture. In these classes the students had the opportunity to use both hand and power tools to construct their projects. The class members used their skills to construct large and small projects for the wood show. The students left the class with skills that could be used in industrial work, or they could apply their knowledge to "hobby type" activities. In all, the students who displayed projects in the wood show were obviously very proud of their finished projects.

Six Students Picked In State Competition

Girls' State participants: Mollie Bliss, Katherine Andrews, and Florence Braganza.

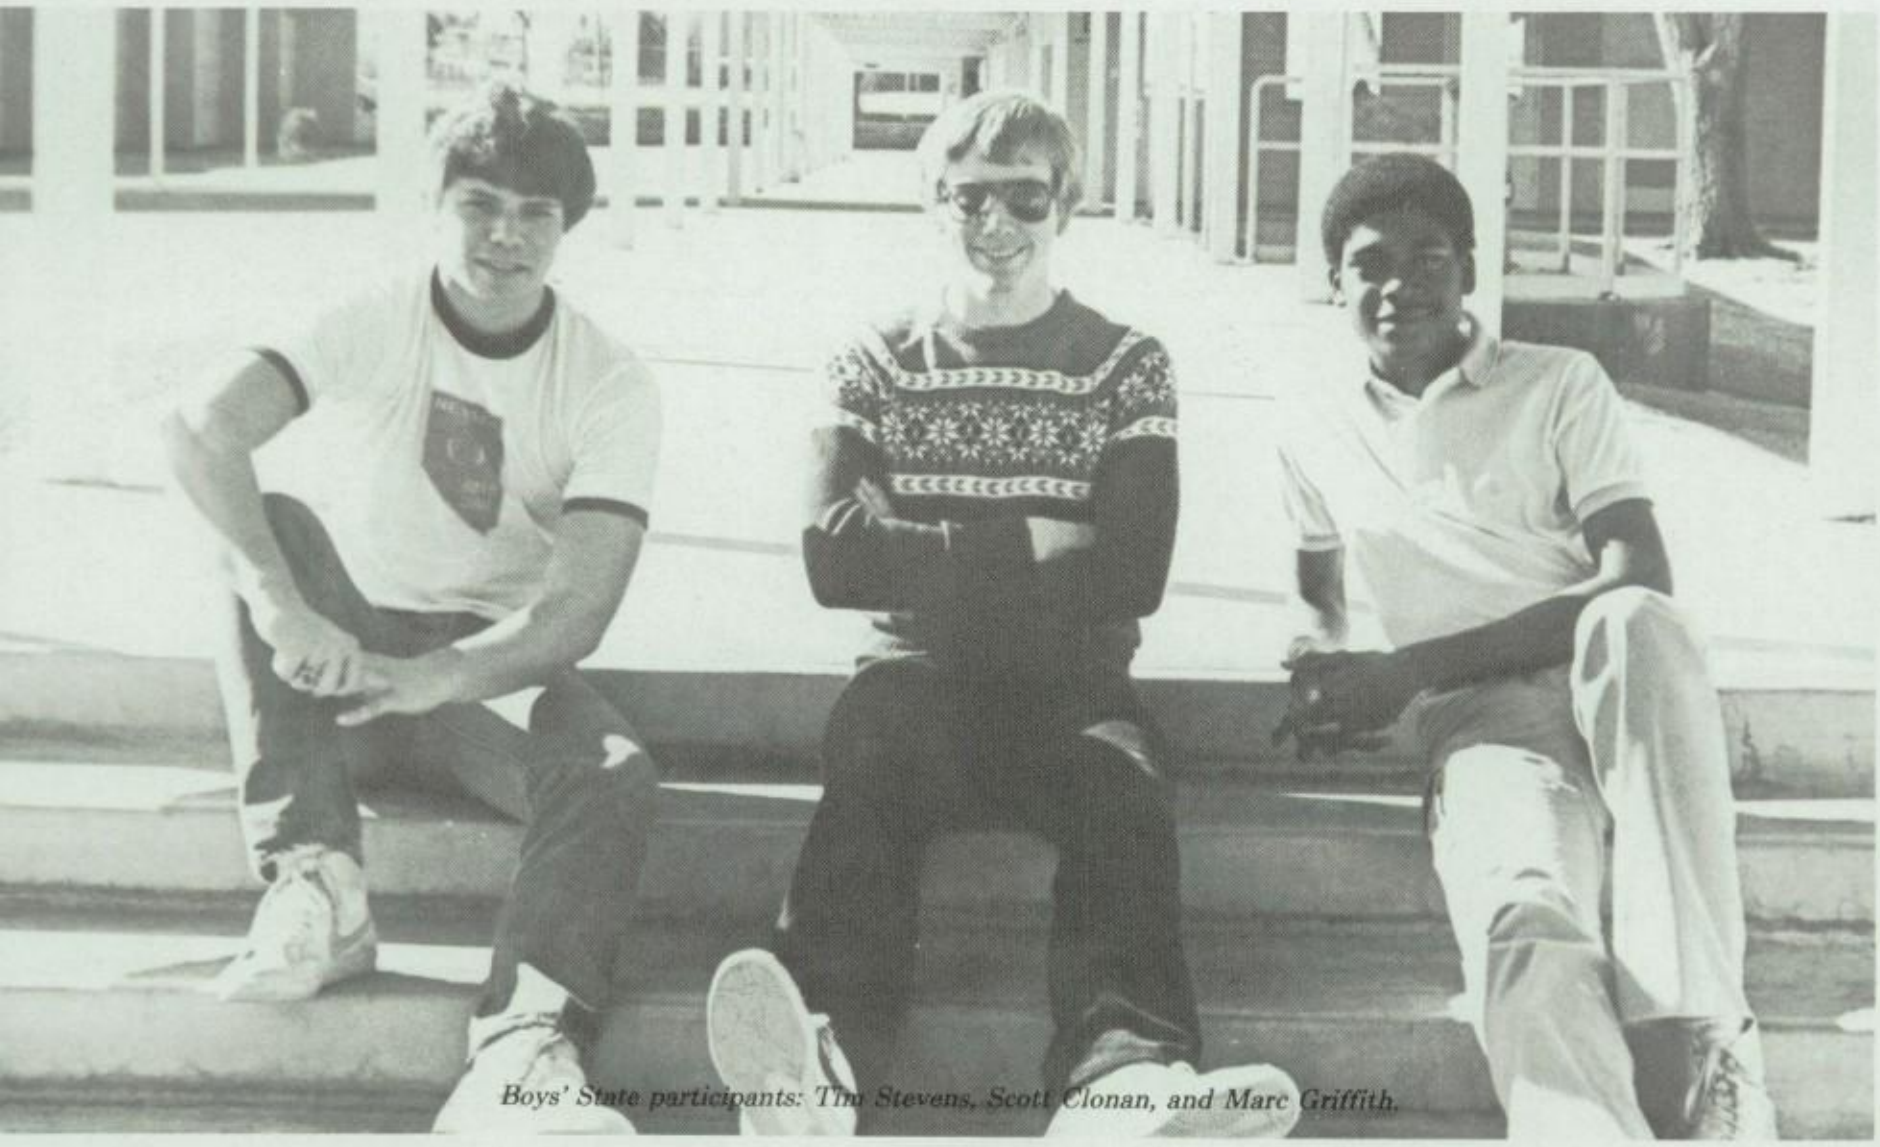
In June, six students were chosen to represent Rancho at the 1983 Girls' and Boys' State sessions. These students included Katherine Andrews, Mollie Bliss, Florence Braganza, Scott Clonan, Marc Griffith, and Tim Stevens.

The girls' seminars were held June 12-18 at the Clearcreek Youth Camp located near Carson City. The Fallon Naval Air Station was the location for the boys' sessions, and they spent six days, June 19-24, at their workshop.

The students were selected by the Rancho High Scholarship Committee. They were chosen for their good academic standing, involvement in school activities, potential for leadership, and outgoing personalities.

During their stay, the students toured Carson City. They visited the Governor's mansion and the Nevada State Legislature where they learned about the functions of democracy through mock government sessions. The candidates talked about politics, and they were able to experience the voting process.

The students upon returning to Rancho viewed the trip as a very positive experience. When asked what benefits the trip provided, Mollie Bliss stated, "It provided us with a better understanding of government." And Florence Braganza stated, "It gave us a firsthand experience of voting."



Boys' State participants: Tim Stevens, Scott Clonan, and Marc Griffith.

All That Jazz

The Jazz Band was a group of talented musicians who played a wide variety of music ranging from pop and rock to rythm and blues. This year there were 15 students enrolled in the Jazz Band.

Under the supervision of director William Lebegern, the group participated in two main activities this year. For the student body's entertainment, the group periodically performed good up-beat music during both lunch periods. The group also traveled to Flagstaff, Arizona in order to participate in the annual NAU Jazz Festival.

Honor Band is comprised of a group of talented young musicians representing the various high schools in the district. This year under the guidance of director George Cavender, auditions for this prestigious group were held in November. From Rancho only three students were selected as members of this group. Michelle Freeman was chosen to play first flute part. Perry Cobb was picked to play second clarinet part, and Willie McCrea was chosen to play third clarinet part.

In the spring these students along with the other students representing the various high schools were eligible to audition for the All-State Band which is an honor given to only the most talented performers. The other main activity for the group was a concert which was held in January. The practice for this concert was extremely arduous since the selected music for this performance was difficult to master.

The Rancho Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corp began the year with four consecutive years of Honor Unit behind them. With this reputation to be maintained, all 226 cadets were immediately set to work preparing for the new competition. Led by Corp Commander c/2nd Lieutenant, Ron Clark, the corp was thoroughly trained on the principles of flight, navigation, and the history of aviation. Their spare time was spent working on unit coordination. This relentless group was instructed by veterans Lieutentant Colonel Don Campbell, and Master Sergeants Art Miller and Dennis Nelson.

During the course of this extensive training, SM/Sgt Art Miller was overheard telling his personal Physical fitness team; "I like my job!" And so it was with this attitude and effort that the Rancho R.O.T.C. unit performed once again at the Clark County Drill Meet.

We Got The Beat!

The 1983-84 Ram Band consisted of 75 members. Besides their four halftime shows performed at home games, the band also took part in the UNLV Band Night, the Halftime Show Review at the Silverbowl, and a marching competition.

This was the first time in over ten years that the band took part in a marching competition which was held in Chino, California. The group along with 24 other bands representing various schools throughout the West Coast performed their halftime shows to a panel of judges. The judges awarded only three trophies, and unfortunately Rancho was not among the top three. They did, however, perform extremely well.

In the first song of the show, Ron Carrington played a trumpet solo entitled "Sirocco." The second song "Looney Tunes," featured the drum section and two bell players, Jennifer Finney and David Samon. During this song the crowd enjoyed the bands impersonation of Charlie Chaplan. The performance was brought to an end with a trumpet solo played by Gene Serrano in a song entitled "Dancing Men."

A Prize For Effort

In order to maintain their standard of quality performances, the Varsity Cheerleaders attended the U.S.A. cheerleading camp in Cedar City, Utah for four days during summer vacation. As a result of their combined effort the girls brought home several awards and ribbons. However, their most prized trophy was a plaque for being recognized by their peers and instructors as the hardest working squad at camp.

Following this eventful summer, the squad continued to demonstrate their school loyalty and enthusiasm by promoting spirit at numerous school activities. They also got involved in selling candy, popcorn tins, football stadium cushions, spirit buttons, and assisting with the Holiday Prep. Classic.

Pin 'Em Down Rams

This year the 1983-84 mat maids did a terrific job of promoting school spirit for the Rancho Wrestling team. Aside from raising spirit at wrestling games, the squad raised funds by selling buttons, candy, and they held a turkey raffle. With these funds the mat maids wanted to purchase new uniforms for the season. Another goal for the squad was to become the best mat maids in the Clark County School District.

Song At Their Best

Songleaders added more than their share of school spirit by performing skits, dances, and special numbers at all the varsity football and basketball games as well as at all the spirit assemblies. Yet in addition to these numerous duties, the group undertook several projects to raise money. Selling spirit buttons, candy, and football stadium cushions were some of their fund raising activities. The profits from these sales enabled the squad to attend summer camp and puchase new uniforms, both of which enhanced their performance and appearance for Rancho High School.

The J.V. Cheerleaders showed their spirit in many ways throughout the school year. This spirit and loyalty got them involved in many activities. They sold spirit buttons, candy, football stadium cushions, and popcorn tins. They also helped coordinate the Holiday Prep. Classic.

In order to qualify to become a member of the squad the girls had to follow certain guidelines which were established by the Nevada interscholastic Activities Association. These requirements include performing the splits on one leg, learning various cheers and stunts, and creating an original cheer.

Participation in an activity such as J.V. Cheerleading enabled the girls to experience many new things. This feeling was best summarized by Laura Durgen who said "There were many things learned and taught all the way from simple stunts to good sportmanship."

A Run On Toilet Tissue

Clubs and organizations are synonymous with school life, but before a student enters into an activity certain requirements must be met. Although the Pep Club at Rancho was no exception to this practice, their procedures for initiation were definitely unique. The girls wore two different shoes; their clothes were worn inside out and backwards, and they also wore seven braids in their hair. While dressed in this outlandish apparel, they sold sheets of toilet paper for five cents each.

Once the girls were properly initiated into the Pep Club, they performed many services for the school. The club was present at all the games in order to provide the various teams with vocal support. They were also responsible for planning the Sweetheart's Ball which was held in February.

The profits from this dance, along with money gained from the sale of pom pons and toilet paper, enabled the members of the Pep Club to have an overnight pizza party. In May, they traveled to California for a weekend of fun and relaxation.

A Change In Format But The Same Efficient Results

This year the Student Council changed its political format. In order to assure that corruption did not prevail, a new form of government was enacted. Instead of having officers, the Freshman and Sophomore classes operated in committees. Aside from these new ideas, the Student Council was also responsible for the traditional tasks including the Homecoming festivities and the Southern Zone festivities, which brought together all of the southern zone schools in preparation for the state tournament.

"Let's Dance"

The tune "Let's Dance" was a favorite among the dance students at Rancho High School. It was to this song and many other musical scores that the students performed a variety of dance styles. Some of the styles taught were ballet, jazz, adajo and modern dance. This large variety of dancing techniques produced a large demand for this class.

Each year there has been a dance festival in which Rancho participated. This year it was held at Las Vegas High School. All high schools plus junior highs presented one or two of their best numbers. Rancho's dancers also received a standing invitation to present a couple numbers in the choreographers showcase. The invitation was through audition only.

A few of the outstanding dance students were Lisa Goebel, Rodney Johnson, Sandy Sawyer, Jacqui Sit, Keith Whitney, Keith Williams and Kerry Williams.

Rancho's Celebration Is Puttin' On The Ritz

Dressed up like million dollar troopers, Celebration took on a whole new attitude. Under the new direction of Mrs. Kathy Hayes, Celebration performed many different types of acts. Their dynamic performances included contemporary songs, broadway hits, country western tunes, and jazz compositions and renditions.

During the course of the year, Celebration performed at the other high schools in Las Vegas and at the Helen J. Stewart Elementary School. Tentative plans were also made to appear in lounge acts on "The Strip" and to attend the Jazz Festival in California. In keeping with their new attitude, the members of the group selected a new theme. They harmoniously agreed upon the "Jubilation Celebration."

Maintaining Rancho's tradition of musical excellence, the Celebration Band, under the instruction of Mrs. Kathy Hayes, received rave reviews from a devoted student body. This year's group was comprised of five talented students. Guitar players were Dan Groux, Sean Rangel, and Kelly Spellmen. Sergio Salzano maintained the beat for the group on the drums and Tracy Olsen accompanied them on the piano.

After many hours of practice, the group held their first performance in the Little Theater on December 13 in a celebration of the Christmas season. After listening to their performance, it was apparent that the group had achieved their main goal for the year which was a "harmonious togetherness in sound." Tentative plans were also made for the group to perform in the spring concert with the Celebration singers.

This year's Women's Glee emerged enthusiastically with the help of Mrs. Kathy Hayes, the new advisor. Women's Glee consisted of 12 members. The songs that were sung, both traditional and contemporary, were performed in acapella or accompanied by instruments. The talented group of young ladies also worked with Men's Ensemble and Chorale which made for the best performance possible. During the Christmas season the groups added to the holiday spirit by performing at the Meadows Mall and the Boulevard Mall. In March the girls had a chance to display their talents by attending the Chorale Festival held in California.

It was a year to remember for the 15 members of Men's Ensemble. Among the noteworthy events were their performances made at the Boulevard Mall and the Meadows Mall. Their many performances also included the Winter concert and their attendance at the Solo and Ensemble Festival in February, which may well have been the highlight of the year.

The concerts and performances allowed this fine group the opportunity to display their dynamic talent. Their versatility was shown to their audiences by singing musical comedy songs, novelty Christmas carols, and classical songs. In all these theme changes, the momentum of the performance was never lost due to the fine efforts of this talented group.

The Best Of Chorale

With a select group of 37 students, Chorale displayed their talent through the course of a busy year. The formation of this musical assembly started out with auditions in which only the choice vocalists were selected from the members of Men's Ensemble and Women's Glee. Performances made during the year included the Christmas performance and a concert which was held in the spring. In the spring performance, Chorale sang classical music, music from the Renaissance-Baroque period, modern music, and novelty songs. In addition to these two main performances, plans were tentatively made to display the talents of this group at the Southern California Vocal Association Festival.

The aspiring actors and actresses of the Shining Star Players gave it their all this year. There were approximately 35 players and according to their advisor, Patty Emmett, the students were equally talented and consistent in their performances. The theatrical group not only performed at Rancho but also at other high schools including the Chaparral High School Tournament. In this tournament the Players ranked second, third, and fourth place in the county.

A variety of plays were brought to life including the tragedy "Lizzie Borden of Fall River" and on the flip side, a musical entitled "Tumbleweeds." If a Player was interested in a certain role, he or she had to audition as did the nonmembers also interested in being part of the play.

Zodiacs An Astronomical Success

The Zodiacs, under the guidance of Mrs. Larnell Tillman, had a busy schedule this year. They performed in the majority of pep assemblies and during half time at the basketball games. They also participated in a ward banquet, and the group demonstrated their team's talent at the Annual Delta Signa Theta Jabberwock.

The Zodiacs went on an end of the year educational trip. In order to raise money for this trip, they held several fundraising activities. Some of these included the sale of raffle tickets, car washes, and candy sales. Their final way to raise money was both profitable and enjoyable, for they participated in the Annual Spring Fashion and Talent Show.

The new addition to the 1983-84 spirit squad was the male Yell Leaders. The team was comprised of Roger Haskins, Bill Underwood, and Rodney Johnson. The group worked closely with the cheerleaders for their debut which came at the beginning of the basketball season. They then continued working throughout the remainder of the school year. Their duties included promoting spirit from the crowds and helping the cheerleaders raise to new heights with new ideas and innovations with the pyramid mounts and lifts. As an end result, it became apparent that the male Yell Leaders helped to make one more contribution to Rancho High School from the class of "1984."

Soccerettes Help Kickers During Season

The Soccerettes for the 1983-84 season consisted of six girls who worked throughout the soccer season trying to build interest in the sport. The Soccerettes helped the team by keeping score, chasing balls, supplying oranges, and most importantly, cheering and promoting spirit for the Rancho Rams.

The Soccerettes were chosen on the basis of grades, past participation in school activities, and a final interview conducted by Soccerette advisor Mr. Freddie Johnson. The president of the group was Trina Langley, and the other squad members included Joan Anderson, Jessica Kusler, Pam Armijo, Denise DeWitt, and Kyla Ahrns.

Quality In High School Athletics

The Girls Athletic Association was designed to further girls interest in athletic sports. All Rancho girls, who participated in junior varsity and varsity sports, were eligible to become members of this organization. The main fund raiser during the 1983-84 school year for the G.A.A. was the sale of candy. The profits from these sales enabled the groups to purchase needed equipment and supplies. This money was also used to finance the traditional end of the year picnic. The organization has been supervised by Mrs. Pete Barnson and Bonnie Flaagan for the last several years, and every year they have improved and expanded this club greatly.

Maintaining Academic Excellence

Rancho's school assemblies were designed to promote enthusiasm, loyalty, and unity among the students on the campus. These assemblies, however were not designed to interfere with the primary function of our educational institution. Therefore, in order to insure that acedemic excellence was maintained, a significant change was made in the assembly scheduling. Assemblies were shortened from one hour to thirty minutes thereby only eliminating six minutes from each class period on an assembly day.

Some of the major assemblies presented were the Homecoming Assembly, the Senior Assembly, the Black History Assembly, and the Sir Herkimer's Bone Assembly. In addition to these spirit promoters, Ranch, as in the past, also held the Southern Zone Assembly.

The theme for the 28th annual Zone assembly was "Southern Zone will Thrill You In 84". Students at Rancho carried out this theme which was based on Michael Jackson's song entitled "Thriller" by participating in the week's spirit days which were as follows: Crazy Hat Day, Thriller Day, and Dress Up Day.

The leadership class organized the week's activities which came to a grand finale Friday, February 17th. The day started with a breakfast for the visiting students, and ended with one of the most exciting, entertaining Southern Zone pep assemblies in Rancho's history.

Entertainment was provided by NSA-YMD, an act from the show of Seigfreid and Roy. They performed breathtaking routines to thrill the hearts of the onlookers. The Las Vegas Stars also made an appearance with the All-Stars, Small Stars, and Mini Stars dancing to the beat of Michael Jackson Songs. As a finale the Senior Songleaders performed a special routine to Thriller. The squad received an added boost by Scott Turner and the junior varsity cheerleaders who portrayed Michael Jackson and Zombies from the Grave.

The Powder Puff tradition began last year at Rancho when the senior girls battled it out with the junior girls on the football field. The game was so popular that the tradition was continued this year on November 22, and the Rancho football field was the perfect setting to witness this humorous yet challenging game. No football game would be complete without cheerleaders, so the guys got involved and became some of Rancho's finest spirit promoters. As readily apparent, the game had many enjoyable highlights, among which were the halftime game played between the senior and junior cheerleaders and the melodious music of the kazoo band which was periodically played during this "football game." After an hour and a half of witnessing the girls battling it out, the seniors emerged victorious with the final score of 16 to 12.

The exciting evening of the Sweetheart's Ball will be long remembered as one of the most enjoyable dances of the year. This Valentine affair took place at the Circus Circus RV Park Convention Room which was converted into a romantic dance hall. Through the duration of the dance, the exciting atmosphere was maintained with the help of disc jockey Hypo Scott. As the evening progressed the Sweetheart's King and Queen were announced. The Tradition Lives On

On January 20, the junior class sponsored an innovative and colorful Sadie Hawkins dance. It was a continual array of blue jeans and western styled flannel shirts. Bales of hay and cans of flowers were placed throughout the cafeteria to add to the western atmosphere. To complete the scene for this year's Sadie Hawkins dance, Pam Armijo was selected as Daisy Mae, and Danny Sinyard was Rancho's Lil' Abner.

A highlight of the evening was the traditional wedding booth. There the couples could "get hitched" in the rite originally created in the Lil' Abner comic strip, which instituted the Sadie Hawkins tradition of women proposing to men. For this evening, the girls did the asking and the paying. As an added highlight, the class also provided a divorce booth for any "feuding couples." It was apparent that the sponsors of the dance were prepared for any situation, marital bless or marital discord.

Smile & Say Cheese

This year the 1983-84 El Sol Staff decided upon a literary theme for the yearbook. The theme was "To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield." It contained a sentiment the staff wished to extend to the students of Rancho High School. Essentially this concept urges them to constantly work for their goals, and never relinquish them even though they may seem difficult to achieve. The members of the El Sol Staff were as follows:
Editor-in-Chief: Maria Mendez
Co-Editor: Johnna Pennington
Activities Editor: Beth Herrera
Class Section Editor: Becky Hansen
Advertising Editor: Angie Ward
Photographers: Andy Perkins, Franko Thompson, Ken Hartig, Roseann Arpino, Todd Freeman
Artists: Scott Ringler, Pat Johnson, Bill Underwood

Extra Extra, Read All About It

1983-84 was a year to remember for the Rampage Staff, for the format was changed from the printing by Graphic Arts to the professional printing of the Nifty Nickel. This change required additional money which was gained by fund raising activities and advertising. It also necessitated more time spent on stories and layouts which insured a more professional appearance.

Accompanying the change in format, the staff intensified its goals which were to make the newspaper informative, entertaining, and creative. They also adopted a class motto which was taken from the literary works of Benjamin Franklin. Franklin stated, "Industry ... Lose no time; be always employed in something useful; cut off all unnecessary actions."

The Future Business Leaders of America which was referred to as F.B.L.A. was an organization designed to promote ethical and high business standards among its members. The participants of the club were given an opportunity to increase their knowledge of the business world by learning about various business practices, by observing business procedures during field trips to local business firms, and by interacting with other students and adults who had similar interests. In addition, members were allowed to compete in all areas of business by entering into state and national competitions which were held periodically during the school year.

A Look To Tomorrow

The Gerontology classes provided the students at Rancho an opportunity to study the various aspects of old age. Emphasis in the classes was placed on the medical, sociological, and economic problems encountered by the elderly in our society.

Students familarized themselves with some of the problems by getting involved in several of the supportive services provided for the elderly. Some of the important activities for the class members included preparing and serving weekly lunches for the elderly in the community, organizing and distributing holiday food for the needy families, participating in volunteer programs, and promoting senior citizen activities.

The 170 members of the Ski Club enjoyed three major trips during the ski season. They started the season off at Brian Head. It was there that many of them for the first time experienced gliding across the white slopes of packed powder. They felt the cool breezes blowing through their hair, and they sensed the pounding of their hearts as they began their first descent of the new skiing season. The group was also fortunate to have two other ski trips. One was to Lee Canyon, and the last outing of the year was back to Brian Head for their final weekend of skiing enjoyment.

The Rainbow Club had a colorful year. The students were successful in sponsoring a talent and fashion show. The talent show was held in the Little Theater, and students were encouraged to perform by the cheering crowd who came to watch their fellow students. The fashion show proved to be tres-chic with participants modeling clothes fit for Vogue. Perhaps the most important responsibility of the Rainbow Club was to plan and organize Black History week. Activities for the week began with daily announcements covering the contributions of famous black men and women who helped shape history. A king and queen were elected, and for the finale, an assembly was held in which students performed and gave speeches to enlighten the student body about the black heritage.

The International Club got an "A" for their spirit and enthusiasm this year. They were active in the Homecoming festivities, and they helped organize the Homecoming parade. The club also sponsored a dance in which international music was played and the Rancho International Dancers performed. The other main activity for the year was a pot luck dinner where food from various nations was shared.

Advisor Mr. Uly Ramsey along with the club officers Norma Enriques-President; Vladimir Palet-Vice President; Lazaro Rodriquez-Assistant Vice President; Eve Olivas-Secretary; Enricko Lopez-Treasurer; and Adriana Gomez-Social Chairperson agreed that the club's main goals were to help the students from foreign cultures exchange ideas, attitudes, and lifestyles with each other.

An Unique Experience

A rare opportunity was provided for selected students from Nevada, Utah, Oregon, and Kansas this year when the top seniors from these areas visited our nation's capital in Washington D.C.

Some of the sights presented were the Capital Building, the White House, the National Archives where the original documents of the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights, and the Consititution of the United States are kept; the Washington National Cathedral which has been under construction since 1906; the Washington Memorial which contains 898 steps and an elevator; the Smithsonian Institution, the Lincoln Memorial which was "dedicated not just to Lincoln, but to all of us"; the National Zoological Park, the Vietnam Veterans Memorial, and finally the Thomas Jefferson Memorial which is called the "Guardian of the White House."

In addition to viewing these impressive sights, the students participated in group workshops and several seminars which dealt with various topics. Although the students definitely enjoyed the previously mentioned activities, this eventful week was highlighted by a two day trip to Jamestown, the first English speaking colony and to colonial Williamsburg, which contains the oldest college in the United States, the College of William and Mary.

Keeping Up With The Changing Times

This year the previously named Math Club was changed to the Math-Computer Club because of the fast-growing interest in Computer Science. Their primary goal was to further the student's interest in math and computer studies. Those students who excelled in these areas were eligible for a Math Scholarship which was given to the most outstanding math student. In addition to sponsoring this scholarship, the club was also responsible for sponsoring the American High School Math Exam.

Advisors Mr. Steger and Mr. Pribyl planned to take the club members on field trips to different computer installations such as a bank or a computer convention. Since last year, the club obtained four new Apple 2E Computers and one Apple Printer.

With only three members this year, Mrs. Alice Dalrymple's Chess Club had to forefeit two tables per match during the regular season. Though Dexter Cavitt, Rikki Styles, and chess newcomer Kirk Tuminaro gave strong competition, the lack of membership proved to be their downfall in the 1983-84 Interscholastic Chess League. They ended the season with an overall score of zero wins, five losses, and one tie with 2nd place Eldorado.

The club made quite an appearance at the District Tournament held at VoTech on February 2 and 3. The Rancho team was led by the Club's first board player Cavitt who had a personal score of five wins, three losses, and two ties during the season. The VoTech's Culinary Department hosted a dinner for the players during the tournament.

Rancho's Academy of Biological Sciences experienced another eventful year. Under the supervision of Mrs. Pat Coon and Mr. Gerald Anderson, RABS went on a different field trip each month. Some of the trips included a tour of Ethel M's Chocolate Factory and Botanical gardens, the Planetarium in the Clark County Community College, and a nature walk in Red Rock Canyon.

In April, the group, along with the Honor Society, went to Los Angeles to tour the museums and the zoos. As an added highlight, the two groups spent the remaining hours of their trip on the beautiful beaches of California.

In the movie Ben Hur, who played the title role? Who were the six wives of Henry VIII? What is a bongo? Those curious about the answers to these questions could consult the 1983-84 Varsity Quiz squad. The above questions were only a small part of the bi-weekly, intense one hour practices coached by Mrs. Paula Anderson.

Based on the individual who answered the most questions for the week, the team captian was chosen. Some outstanding participants were Mollie Bliss, Florence Braganza, Scott Clonan, and Roger Haskins. The entire group was required to answer questions ranging from world authors to television personalities. This academic competition which involved other high schools in the Clark County School District could be viewed on Channel 10.

These televised games were often close and were sometimes decided by the last quarter. One of these close-knit games was the two quarter tie breaker against Basic that allowed Rancho to continue into the semi-finals. After the first quarter of play, Rancho was trailing with a score of 58 to 25. The team managed to overwhelm Basic by coming back with a score of 62 to 68. However, the team was defeated by the division B champions in the semi-finals. Thus, making Rancho third in the overall competition.

Under the guidance of advisor Mrs. Sandra Cook, the Creative Writing Club had another successful year. This year the magazine which the club produces annually was devoted to the themes of horror, science, and fantasy. Entries in the magazine, however, were not just limited to the members of the club. If a student on campus wrote a short story or poem dealing with this year's theme, the club would review the entry. If the entry proved satisfactory, it was included in the magazine. The Creative Writing Club proved to be more than just a club; it was a stepping stone for young writers who wanted to prove that they were talented.

The Whiz Kids

The International Baccalaureate Program began at Rancho this year. This program enabled students after two years of selected courses to earn 32 college credits upon successful completion of this rigorous, comprehensive program.

Before students could gain entrance into this program during their upper secondary level years, they had to enroll in the Pre-I.B. classes which were initiated this year. These classes were designed for the academically talented and the highly motivated students. In these classes the students prepared for the I.B. Program by taking intensive instruction in certain areas such as English, World History, Math, and Science. If they were successful in this phase of the program, they will be permitted to enter the program, thereby receiving the exceptional opportunity to earn college credits during their high school years.

"The Cream Of The Crop"

The Triton Elite Chapter of National Honor Society is an organization of outstanding students who were able to maintain academic excellence throughout the school year. Membership was an honor bestowed upon a select group of students by the faculty council on behalf of the school faculty. The purpose of this organization was to create enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote leadership and to develop character in the students. Another membership qualification, was a 3.5 or higher grade point average. If the members fell short of this, they were placed on a nine week term of probation.

The members participated in candy sales, bake sales, and car washes to raise money for their end of the year trip to California, and for the various community service projects they performed throughout the year. One such group project was the annual Christmas caroling at Sunrise Hospital. The reception the group received from the people who were ill was heartwarming. The carolers were able to bring back many happy memories for the elderly people which made it a very special Christmas for them.

At the end of the school year the members were rewarded for all their hard work at the formal induction ceremony banquet. One event that stood out during the traditional ceremony was the impressive candlelight service.

Striving For A Better Tomorrow

The Interact Club, sponsored by the Rotary Club of North Las Vegas, was formed to provide an opportunity for young people to work together in a world fellowship dedicated to service an international understanding. The goals of the Interact Club were to develop leadership skills, to practice thoughtfulness to others, and to create an awareness of the importance of home and family.

Under the guidance of advisor, Philip Cook, the group was actively involved in many activities during the course of the school year. The club participated in the Rotary Four-Way Speech Contest. They raised money for charity by sponsoring a Bowl-a-thon in which the students and the faculty competed against each other. And as an added highlight the Interact members attended a convention on the Queen Mary in Longbeach, California.

Giving Credit Where Credit Is Due

There were many facets to the Board of School Trustees, which has been established since 1955. Generally the board maintained the school plant, public relations, instructional programs, and employee personnel.

The School Board also aided students by assigning class instructors, scheduling classes and activities, and developing testing programs and other procedures for the evaluation of the effectiveness of all school courses.

VICE PRINCIPALS

Apart from being involved in extra-curricular activities and handling their own separate departments, the Vice-Principals also had to insure that the quality of education was maintained. This was done by making teacher evaluation.

In charge of attendance, discipline, and campus supervision was Dee Leavitt. The subjects of the teachers Mrs. Leavitt evaluated were Fine Arts, a fast growing R.O.T.C., Science, Social Studies, and Special Education which was doubled from last year.

Alan McNulty was in charge of curriculum development, department allocations, equipment, management, and registration. Mr. McNulty evaluated the teachers from the expanded English department, Foreign Languages, Counselors, and the Interlanguage Core Program.

The third Vice-Principal, Larry McKay, was responsible for transportation, field trips, and graduation. Mr. McKay's area of teacher evaluations included Art, Buisness, P.E., Drivers Ed., Home Economics, Industrial Arts, and Mathematics.

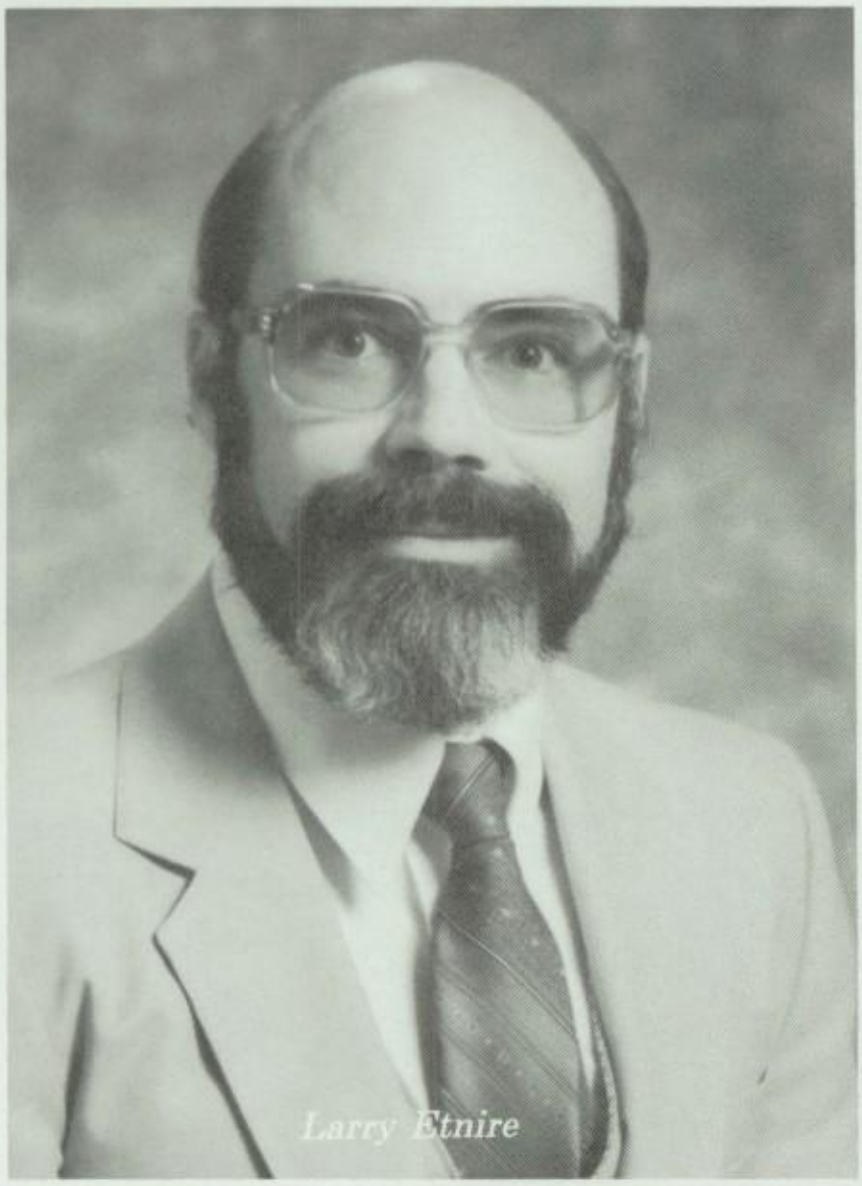
DEANS



Larry Etnire

Before Larry Etnire was selected as one of our deans, he had been at Rancho for six years. Mr. Etnire taught math and social studies. He attended four different colleges for a total of eight years. He has a B.S. degree in Sociology and mathematics and a masters degree in Sociology, Secondary Education, and Secondary Administration. Because of his educational backround, Mr. Etnire would some day like to have his own school. He stated, "It would have to be small, though, so that I could get to know all my students personally."

Alison Cawley was the newest member of the Rancho staff. She came to us from Valley High School, and she feels that the Rancho students are very polite. She is currently working on her doctorate in administration at U.C.L.A. She has also attended Portland University and Oregon State University.

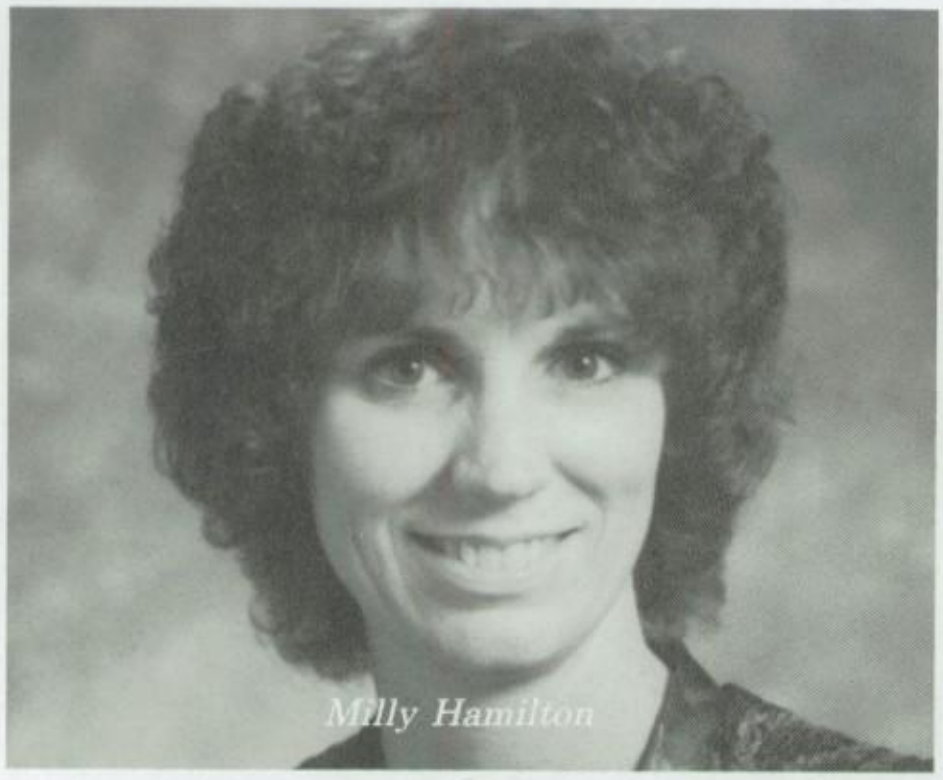
COUNSELORS



Milly Hamilton

Maggie Pearson

This year, as in the past, the counselors were in charge of arranging class schedules and insuring that the students were placed in classes which challenged their academic abilities. In addition to these aforementioned duties, the counselors helped the students with their personal problems and with exploring different vocational goals. Perhaps one of the most important duties of the counselors is to provide advice for their students. This concern for the well-being of the students is illustrated in the following statement made by Maggie Pearson who stated, "Make a special effort to know your counselor and let him help you today prepare for tomorrow. A counselor is someone who cares enough to listen."

Rancho High School's Nevada-31st Air Force Junior ROTC unit was the largest and fastest-growing ROTC unit in Clark County. The phenomenal growth showed an increase from 102 students on September 30, 1979 to 256 cadets on September 30, 1983. The Aerospace Education curriculum was one of the most popular electives on the Rancho campus. It covered leadership, aviation, history, principles of aerodynamics, navigation, and other citizenship and aviation-related subjects. The curriculum had been tailored by the Rancho instructors with the goal in mind to produce and graduate a well-rounded mature young person who will be an asset to his/her community and the contemporary American society. All the Rancho Nevada-31st cadets were very involved in their school and community.

BUSINESS

The business program this year at Rancho was organized to provide courses beneficial to the students who were interested in the business world. All types of classes ranging from office skills to corporation skills were offered. They were designed to help the students learn about the available business careers. Some of the courses offered such as typing, filing, and general business took place at school. Where as work experience took place off campus. This course enabled Juniors and Seniors who had jobs to work during school time and still receive credit. In the final analysis the business program was designed to prepare students for the future.

ENGLISH

According to the regulations established by the Clark County School District, every student took a required three years of English. In these classes each student studied composition, grammar, literature, and vocabulary which were all important parts of the English curriculum. For those students who wished to attend college, a fourth year of English was available to them. These college preparatory classes included Modern Literature, Creative Writing, English Literature, and American Literature. In all, this course offered a rich variety of English classes for the students of Rancho High School.

The Fine Arts Department at Rancho was sectioned into several different categories. In the area of music, two new courses were added to the curriculum. For the beginner, a new music appreciation course was started to help the novice explore the various aspects of the world of music, and for the more serious student a college preparatiory class was added. In addition to these new subjects offered at Rancho, the traditional courses were also taught. These included theater, dance, and art classes. All of these activities upheld Rancho's reputation as a center for the arts.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Taking a foreign language provided students with the opportunity to learn many different things about the language they have taken. Not only did they learn to speak the language, but they also learned about the culture and civilization of the people. The foreign language courses taught students the basic skills of listening, speaking, reading, and writing. In the more advanced courses, emphasis was placed on expanding the students' vocabulary, studying the culture of that particular language, and learning how to speak the language more fluently. Foreign language courses also helped students obtain the required credits needed in order to enter college. Courses in foreign language included four levels of French, three levels of German, and four levels of Spanish.

The social studies classes at Rancho were comprised of a variety of subjects. There were three mandatory classes, which included World History, U.S. History, and Government. These subjects explained the yesterday of mankind, for without a knowledge of yesterday, there would be no guide to tomorrow. Therefore, the goal of these classes was to make the students conscious of their past so that they could improve their future.

In addition to these mandatory subjects, Rancho offered to its students two electives, Human Relations, and Psychology. The former class demonstrated how people relate in various situations whereas the latter class explained why people react in a certain manner to a given situation. In all, these classes were definitely beneficial to the students at Rancho High School.

MATH

The knowledge and understanding of mathematics is one of the most important things a student can learn during his high school years. Here at Rancho there was a wide range of classes offered to the students to accommodate almost everyones needs. Ranging from the math lab to the more advanced course of calculus, the curriculum made provisions for almost every member of the student body, whether it was the mathematical knowledge necessary for everyday calculations that occur in life, or the background needed to prepare one for the advancements and complexities of college.

An added highlight to the Rancho curriculum was the computer math course. This course attracted the curiousity of many, for it opened the interests of many students who were amazed at the accomplishments that can be acquired on a computer.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

This year the P.E. department offered a wide variety of courses for the students at Rancho. Aside from the traditional P.E. classes, weight training was offered for those students who wanted not only to build their muscles but also to control them. Another class which deviated from the norm was the dance class. This course taught students about coordination, and it also helped the students to improve their rhythm with routines of jazz and ballet. Finally, there was a driving class offered after school which enabled participants to get a reduction in their insurance rates if they passed the course. There was a small fee required for enrollment in this class.

SCIENCE

Several hundred students accepted the academic challenges presented in the science classes at Rancho. These classes such as biology, chemistry, and physics enabled the students to do more than mere bookwork. It also included mixing chemicals, working in lab, dissecting animals and insects and working with microscopes. For the students, expanding their knowledge and insight into the scientific fields offered a wide randge of opportunities for them. The demand for accuracy prepared students for mastery of subject and self that may prove invaluable in the exciting and expanding fields of Science.

A wide variety of vocational classes was offered at Rancho High School this year. The goals of these courses were to prepare students for future occupations.

Future homemakers enrolled in classes in the Home Economics department. One class in this area was Child Development which gave the students on-hand experience with working with preschool children. Another course in this department was the general Home Economics class which taught the basics of sewing, cooking, and child care. Finally the foods classes instructed students on food preparation and nutrition. These courses were popular with the students venturing into the culinary field.

Another vocational program offered to the students was the Industrial Arts Classes. These courses included Wood Shop, Auto Mechanics, Drafting, and Electronics. Students enrolled in these classes applied their practical knowledge and manual dexterity to complete many useful projects. These classes prepared students to be future craftsmen, carpenters, and architects.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

The special education program at Rancho was increased to double its size from last year which led to the addition of five new teachers in this department. They included Robert Smith, Betsy Burdette, Karen Stanford, Marilyn Zechman, and Victoria Geissler. These teachers were notably versatile and taught variety of subjects. For example, Mrs. Smith taught English, Health, Government, World History, Math, and General Science. Ms. Burdette taught Driver Education, Physical Education, Career Experience, and Family Life. Ms. Stanford tutored pre-vocational and cooperative education and occupational work experience while Ms. Zechman taught General Math, English, and Social Studies. Finally teaching Remedial Reading, Math, and Social Living was Ms. Geisler.

RESOURCES

The recently expanded library proved to be an invaluable asset to the students at Rancho. The additonal area enables the students to comfortably peruse the increase selection of novels, periodicals, and primary and secondary sources. These increased facilities also made it possible for a large number of students to compile research on specific topics. With the assistance of librarian, Mrs. Maryanne White, these students were taught the essential library skills. They then were required to apply their newly gained knowledge when preparing assignments such as book reports and research papers.

1. "All right, which one of you took my pencil?" 2. Shirley Hess is hard at work. 3. Mrs. White "Yes, over due books are cause for excommunication!"

No school would be complete without the assistance of the secretaries and the school aides. In a school as large as Rancho, their duties were as numerous as they were varied. These responsibilities included everything from registration to the special problems of individual teachers and students.

In addition to being dynamically efficent, they shared with many of the faculty, personnel, and students their unique personalities. Their kindness, friendliness, and helpfulness were deeply appreciated by all the people of Rancho. These individuals with their efficiency, talent, and understanding helped to make Rancho number one.

MAINTAINERS OF ORDER

Various important duties at our school were performed by the ever present and hardworking custodians, hall monitors, and cafeteria help. Their work was a vital part in maintaining order at our school. Without the custodians, the school would obviously lack the necessary repairs. Without the cafeteria workers, the students would suffer with hunger pangs during the hectic hours of school. And without the urges of the hall monitors, the students, at times, would linger in the hallways. Therefore, the students at Rancho greatly appreciated the combined efforts of these individuals for performing their necessary and important duties.

. . . Off The Wall . . .

Bizarre, crazy, unusual, and/or outlandish described the Rancho campus on March 2, 1984, for on this day the seniors held their traditional Senior Playday. The seniors came to school dressed in their favorite matching costumes such as a dozen variations of Michael Jackson, Bugs Bunny and the Road Runner, and Raggedy Ann and Andy. Some seniors as they walked into their classrooms were greeted with rounds of applause from their fellow classmates for their crazy attire. The seniors ended their day with the Senior Mixer which was held that night. The theme of this "for seniors only" dance was a Hawaiian Luau.

1. Tim Stephens captures the Villains, Twila Cuther and Denise Blevins. 2. Ross Stirling, Trina Henriksen, and Todd Gillins go Hawaiian. 3. Mathew Kowalewski dresses "punk" for Playday. 4. Sandra Crump says, "Play it again Sam!" 9. Julie Dubarton and Theresa Anderson are looking good! 10. Shea Miranda says, "You better beware!"

Senior Mixer

Luau, Rancho Style

March 2, 1984 was a day set aside for the seniors. This festive day started at 7:30 in the morning when the seniors came to school dressed in matching costumes. After attending their classes, they then prepared for an evening of amusement and merriment. The location for their frolicsome night was the Student Union Building on campus. This year's theme for the Senior Mixer was a Hawaiian Luau where the seniors spent their time dancing to the music of Damon Savage. As the evening came to an end, a contest was held for the most original matching costumes. The winners won a free photo session at the studio of their choice.

1. Danny Barulli and Chrissy Colean dance as Jerry Wiese looks on. 2. Trina Hendrickson and Ross Sterling embrace during a slow dance. 3. Mark Koons breaks on the dance floor. 4. Danny Evans and friends make their entrance.

Valedictorians

Florence Braganza Brian Olsen

Friends and Classmates,

We have come to the end of one phase of our lives, one that will remain with us because of the friendships and fond memories that have enriched our high school years. As we reflect back on these four years, we find that much fun and excitement combined in our education filled many of our days. Great accomplishments were also made, leaving an indelible impression on those who achieved them. In my case, I have received the honor of being a valedictorian for the class of 1984, but only through perserverence on my part. As there were accomplishments such as mine, so were there frustrations and failures, but these experiences are something to learn from and not brood over, teaching us the importance of being resillent, especially for the new phase we are about to enter.

This new phase holds for us greater responsibilities when many of us will take our first steps into adulthood- that long awaited and challenging step. As with our experiences in high school, there will be moments of failure and pain from our new roles in society. However, we must never lose hope, for it is through trials and tribulations that we grow and learn. We must look inward to find what we want out of life and pursue our endeavors with the dedication and discipline necessary for the success that is to be the basis for the success of the future generation. So my wish for you, the class of 1984, is success, whether it be in college, a job, a family, or a combination of these- but success that takes root from within.

Farewell, fellow seniors!
God bless you all

Florence Braganza

Florence Braganza
Valedictorian, 1984

My Fellow Graduates,

As I look back on these last four happy years, time has passed all too quickly. The friends we've made, the interests we've shared all contribute to the unique individuals we have become. Graduation has many facets, for some it means complete freedom, getting away from the "nest" and becoming an "ADULT". For others it is merely a steeping stone to higher education, thereby establishing oneself in a sought after career. However, for some, like myself, graduation means an end to childhood innocence and a beginning to mature awareness. High school, in many ways has been a great challenge. Keeping up grade point averages, competition in sports and activities, the realization of peer pressure, and everyone striving to leave his or her own mark on Rancho are merely a few of the challenges. Now as we prepare to graduate, we face a new quest; we must go out into the world and apply all the information we have gathered over the years. As we leave Rancho, I want to thank all of you for making the class of '84 the "Most Excellent" class of all! Good luck with all of your future prospects!

Love Ya,

Dawnee

Number One
...naturally!

Our professional cutters are specially trained to cut your hair naturally—the way it grows—so it holds its shape longer and stays in place better than any other haircut.

We also do great perms, coloring, frosting and conditioning, all at affordable prices, and you never need an appointment.

And take advantage of the Great X free haircut consultation. Put your head together with our Manager or Cutter, look at all the latest styles and then you'll know what's naturally right for you!

"There is a kind of greatness which does not depend upon fortune; it is a certain manner that distinguishes us, and which seems to destine us for great things; it is the value we insensibly set upon ourselves; it is by this quality, that we gain the deference of other men, and it is this which commonly raises us more above them, than birth, rank, or even merit itself."

Ryan -
I hope you get something from your exposure to electronics "the right way, the wrong way, and the Hallowray." Good luck - but I know that you'll succeed "make it" in the big-city.

Ryan,
Baseball is over game so you should stay with it. Your very smart and athletic so do something with life. Take care
Friends always

Ryan,
Although I never seen
you play in sports I know you have to be good enough to be on the team.
I hope you do what you want with your life and have a good time doing it

Ryan,

It has been really nice knowing you. I'm glad we had Chem. + Geometry together. All of those labs were pretty damn fun! Also, all the good (if there were any) times in Geometry. Also, it was fun on the tennis team. I think we screwed up to much, but it was still

Don't forget all of the funny things we did. And thanks alot for always running

Ry, I want you to know you're one of the best friends in the world. How you ever put up w/ all of my Shit I'll Never Know. You're the best friend I've ever had. You've been a Big big part of my life. ALL the years we've spent together I will always remember. I've known you for at least 13 years + I've loved just about every thing I can Remember. I hope we can keep in touch throughout our lives in the Real world. I dread thinking about it. I hope you have the best of luck in college + w/ Trish. You deserve the best of all of us. I hope If all comes to you in the long run. Word knows we haven't had Shit all of our lives but it will come we just have to stick with it. I've enjoyed all of the years of baseball we've played together. + I will keep those memories with me forever. Thanks for letting take up a whole page. I hope you can Read it, Sorry if you can't. Have a great live + letter. I'll love you forever. Best friends always.

Ryan,
Well, this is it! Your last year @ Rancho High! I am very glad I met you and became your friend. You are a super sweet guy and an awesome tennis player! Keep up with the tennis and don't forget me when you become a rich and famous tennis pro!!
It was fun having you in Geometry even though I hated that class. Aren't you glad it's over!
Ryan, I hope you have a very successful life and don't ever change for anyone!

Lots & luck-n-love,
Lisa Bullis ☺
(Webster)

Keeping smiling Ryan!
